

You have the true expertise in your network, now unlock the intelligence

Call for interest

With the advances in AI, what we're most excited about at VeryConnect is the role of niche, subject matter experts and the potential to build models which transform membership bodies ways of guiding collective, curated, expert knowledge.

This covers everything from shaping policy, gathering best practices and storing and sharing collective wisdom.

If you feel this is the next step for your membership association, please get in touch to explore

Topics we're unlocking with associations:

- Institutional memory
- Data sovereignty
- Ownership in the age of AI
- Domain specific models

What this could look like

One problem we're actively exploring is taking thousands of association documents and making them searchable in a conversational way. Think ChatGPT for your own private, secure information.